This week in Year 4...

We have had another fantastic week in Year 4, with lots of exciting learning taking place across the curriculum. The children have worked hard, challenged themselves and continued to show great enthusiasm for their learning.

In English, we started exploring our new class text, 'Until I met Dudley'. The children have been asking thoughtful questions and using these to support their writing. They wrote letters asking for help, focused on reading and spelling strategies, and finished the week by writing clear and simple explanations.

In Maths, we have been developing our addition and subtraction skills with numbers up to four digits. The children practised adding two 4-digit numbers with and without exchange, showing great focus and perseverance as they built confidence with these larger calculations.

In Science, we explored how animal poo can give us clues about digestion, teeth, and diet! The children found this fascinating and used their scientific skills to construct results tables for recording their observations accurately.

In PSHE, we explored how helping others can be good for ourselves too and investigated how being kind to others can help us build positive relationships. We discussed simple ways to help others feel included.

In Music, we continued exploring percussion and had lots of fun practising different body percussion routines. The children developed their sense of rhythm, timing and coordination before working creatively to compose some of their own body percussion routines.

It's been a week full of discovery, enthusiasm, and hard work – well done, Year 4!
